PHOTOGRAPHY GROUP

By Dick Haywood

The Club has taken a couple of runs at a photography group. There was some initial enthusiasm but it was not ongoing, and currently there is no club activity in digital photography - despite the considerable interest on a personal basis. Here is a suggestion for an expanded scope for club activity in this area.

We have all enjoyed looking at old photo albums of family, the family farm, the old city, etc. Compiling a photo album of "Chilliwack 2010" would be photography with the object of leaving a record of what Chilliwack and its people look like today: the streets, the skyline, sports facilities people and how they dress, educational institutions, Wellington Avenue during the Christmas season, etc. Photography would be the main activity, but compiling an informative album with perhaps a small amount of written comment would require some input by members who have ideas and/or experience in creating and editing informational material. Another likely major activity would be the use of photo programs on computers. I would think that such a project would take at least a couple of years, particularly if the group decided to include photos of seasonal situations. If there is interest in this idea, the details could be worked out by the participants. I am pretty much a point and shoot on simple mode photographer, but would hope to pick up pointers on camera and computer use as the work progressed.

I would not be a competent leader for this activity, but would be a willing convener of the initial and early meetings.

If you are interested please contact me at 858-3672.
